

URBAN INTERMODALITY

18 September 2007 (pm)

SPECIAL SESSION 6

INTRODUCTORY REPORT

In a context of increasing demand for mobility and growth of urban areas, the social demand for the reduction of harmful effects due to road transport, requires solutions that promote the combined use of the various transport modes.

This session is devoted to a presentation of the strategies and solutions that are either being considered or already implemented in various metropolitan areas, for the transport of individuals in different contexts of economic development.
